HOW PALMERS CAN GUIDE YOU THROUGH THE PROBATE PROCESS

A free no obligation interview to help you find your way

Free Initial Meeting

If you are in charge of administering an estate, you will have to take on numerous duties. This can often be overwhelming and sometimes incredibly complex.

Palmers Solicitors can help you navigate your way through the probate process and will offer a free and no obligation initial interview to those responsible for the administration of the estate. We will:

Listen to your circumstances

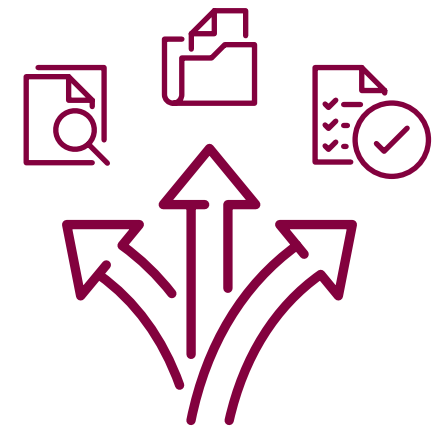

And it all happens at our local offices with the support of an experienced team who are committed to providing you with an excellent service delivered in plain English.

Discuss your needs

There is no obligation on you to use our services following the discussion, but if you proceed with us, you can be assured of regular, jargon-free, advice from our qualified and experienced solicitors, face-to-face if and when required by you, as matters progress.

Explain the next steps

Our charges are extremely competitive and are often fixed. We can deal with the entire administration on your behalf or tailor a service according to your needs.

PROBATE AND ESTATE ADMINISTRATION

We offer local, face-to-face advice on all aspects of estate administration, including:

- Interpreting the terms of the will or advising who benefits under the intestacy rules

- Liaising with various institutions

- Completing the Inheritance Tax Return and the court application for the Grant of Representation

- Obtaining valuations of assets

- Collecting assets and settling any debts

- Transferring assets/monies to beneficiaries

- Dealing with missing beneficiaries

- Introducing you to professional agencies including funeral directors and estate agents
